Re: Consultant Update

Dear Griffin,

I want to apologize for all the formality in my memos. I want to tell you so much but can't express my true feelings with Ellery looking over my shoulder!

Also, I'm worried about my age being an issue with the decryption consultants. We got into a little fight on Discord today and Bronstein got all up in my face and said, "how old are you anyway?" Then Rhodes continued with their condescending act and it became a big mess. Our professional relationship is quite frankly toast which is super frustrating because this is my first big field project. And then there's the fact that Bronstein is absolutely terrible at subtlety and Lang is nowhere to be seen. I sent an email to tell them off and I've gotten absolutely no response.

Thank POTUS that you're on this project with me. Seriously. I'm going crazy with all this fakery and nonsense with the consultants and I don't know what I would do without someone to talk to.

I hope you're doing well. Send me pictures of the cats.
